By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capping a 23-year battle, Congress has approved a proposed constitutional amendment which would ban poll taxes in federal elections.

Now it's up to the states, which have seven years to make up their minds.

With 40 votes to spare, the House completed action Monday on a resolution submitting to the state legislatures the proposition of making it constitutionally illegal to require payment of a poll tax to vote in elections for federal officials.

The vote was 295 to 96. A two-thirds majority was needed for approval. The winners included 163 Democrats and 132 Republicans. On the losing side were 71 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

Most of the dissenting Democrats were from the five states still having poll taxes: Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

The next move is up to the General Services Administration. That agency must certify the congressional action—approved last March by the Senate—to the governors of the 50 states. If three-fourths of the state legislatures—38 of them—ratify the proposed amendment within seven years it will become the law of the land.

The abolition proposal does not affect elections for state and local officials. It applies only to presidential and vice presidential elections and to voters for senators and United States representatives.

There was no certainty that approval by the 38 legislatures would be forthcoming, despite the fact that only five states now have poll tax laws. Some Southern states which have repealed their own poll tax laws may look upon the proposal as an attempt by the federal government to prescribe qualifications for voters.

Improve Pond by Draining, Restocking

Don't throw away your bait box, there are easier ways to improve the fishing in that old farm pond and re-stock. "Fishery biologists have found that the easiest way to improve fishing in an old pond is to kill all the fish and start over," advises County Agent Calvin Caldwell.

Five per cent rotenone used at the rate of three pounds per acre foot will kill all fish, except bullheads. Ever bullheads will succumb when rotenone is increased to four pounds, suggest Mr. Caldwell.

Rotenone works best in water that is 70 degrees or warmer. At this temperature it will lose its toxicity within 72 hours.

This chemical is a dust. It should be mixed with water to form a thin paste. The paste then should be applied over the surface of the water. On small ponds, wave action will mix it thoroughly. On larger ponds, a boat and motor should be used.

The small fish will show signs of distress within 30 minutes after the rotenone is applied. A complete kill can be expected within 24 hours.

After eradication plans for restocking should be made and proper management should be carried out. For details on proper management see Extension Leaflet No. 248, "Proper Management of Farm Ponds in Arkansas."

Storm Hits Coast of N. Carolina

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP)—Tropical storm Alma gave the North Carolina coast and Outer Banks a light brushoff today and moved northeastward along the Atlantic shore.

The center of the feeble storm, described by the Miami Weather Bureau as poorly organized, was located in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras, N.C., at 8 a. m., moving northeastward at about 18 miles per hour.

Maximum winds were estimated at 45 m.p.h. just east of the center with squalls of 30 to 40 m.p.h. extending some 200 miles in the eastern semicircle. The western half was described as relatively weak.

The storm brought drenching rains and the Weather Bureau said these will occur in the coastal areas northwest and north of the center.

No damage was reported. Cape Hatteras reported 5.21 inches of rain between 1 and 6 a. m. a period when the storm was centered southwest of there.

Winds along the coast have generally been only between 30 and 40 m.p.h. However, Cape Hatteras reported winds from 35 to 48 m.p.h.

No flooding was reported. Tides were only a foot or two above normal. The prediction is for tides along the North Carolina and extreme southeastern Virginia coasts to range from one to three feet above normal.

Gale warnings were displayed from Morehead City, N.C., to Cape Charles, Va., and the Weather Bureau said small craft from the North Carolina coast to Cape May, N.J., should remain in port.

Weather-wise residents along the North Carolina coast shrugged off the storm, the season's first Atlantic-spawned tropical storm.

At Atlantic Beach, on the Outer Banks opposite Morehead City, winds were reported from 10 to 15 miles per hour with gusts up to 33 miles per hour. Tides were two feet above normal.

The Atlantic Beach police department said no special hurricane precautions had been taken.

Mississippi Laws Ruled Out by U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department asked today that the courts declare two sections of the Mississippi State Constitution and seven of the state laws in violation of the Federal Constitution on grounds that they are used in discrimination against prospective voters.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the action was taken in a suit filed in U.S. District Court in Jackson, Miss.

The suit asked that a three-judge federal court be convened to block enforcement of the challenged laws.

Under attack are a section of the State Constitution requiring applicants to be able to interpret any section of that constitution and another provision making "good moral character" a requirement for voters.

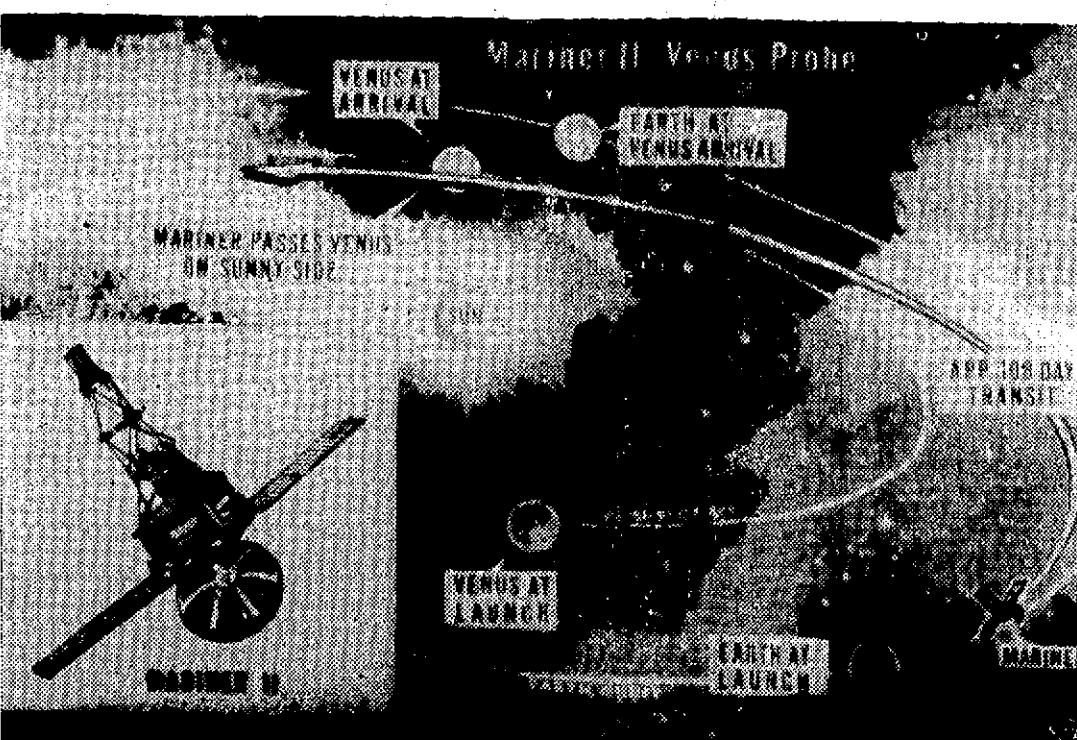

The interpretation section was put into the State Constitution in a 1954 amendment and the character qualification was adopted Nov. 8, 1960.

The government charged that the interpretation provision was intended "to provide a means through which white political supremacy and a racially segregated society could be maintained in Mississippi and the disenfranchisement of Negroes could be perpetuated."

Small Town Jews Better Accepted

NEW YORK (AP)—A Cornell University study says small-town American Jews run into much less anti-Semitism than Jews living in big cities.

The study released Monday, says Jews in small towns become an integral part of the social life of their communities through daily formal and informal contact with their Christian neighbors.

"In this way," said Prof. Peter I. Rose, "each gets to know the other, and the rural Jew finds himself been accepted among his neighbors than does the city Jew."

Jews were interviewed in New York communities of less than 10,000 population, and more than half named Christians as their closest friends. Some 81 per cent said they found no discrimination of any kind, and 83 per cent belonged to non-Jewish organizations.

Rose conducted the study under the sponsorship of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, a national Jewish service and fraternal organization.

Mariner 2 May Be Big Space Achievement

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A small ace-in-the-hole motor weighing 37.3 pounds is the big key to America's attaining the world's most significant interplanetary achievement—shooting the Mariner 2 spacecraft on an exploratory mission past Venus.

If the complex space messenger sweeps within 10,000 miles of Venus in December as planned—after a 180-million mile trip—it would mark a major breakthrough for the United States in the race for space.

Information relayed by Mariner 2 could help scientists and astronomers unravel secrets concealed for centuries by the planet's constant cloud layers. It could determine whether life as we know it possibly could exist on the planet, something doubted by most scientists.

The spacecraft motor became all-important Monday when analysis of tracking data indicated an excellent chance Mariner 2 can be directed from the ground to the vicinity of Venus even though it is far off course.

The critical firing of the motor by ground signal is scheduled tentatively for next Tuesday, Sept. 4, after the flight path, alignment, speed and other factors have been carefully computed.

It is essential that the probe approach within 25,000 miles of Venus if it is to gather the desired measurements.

The trajectory error was caused by an unexplained rolling motion executed by the first stage of the Atlas-Agena B booster rocket.

At the time of midcourse maneuver, Mariner 2 will be about one million miles from earth, traveling about 6,000 miles an hour.

At 2 a. m. today it had covered more than 200,000 miles of its planned 180-million-mile trek across space.

Even though the midcourse motor fires, scientists do not know whether Mariner 2's instruments and transmitters will hold up in the unknown environment of space where they are subjected to radiation shifting temperatures and meteorites.

The Soviet Union fired a payload within 62,000 miles of Venus last year but lost contact with it early in flight.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Harry Moore of Hope.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Central Baptist Church by Dr. J. B. Valentine. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

May Have to Change, Says the Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus predicted today that in "the next two or three years" Arkansas will have to replace the poll tax with some other voter registration system.

Faubus' remark was prompted by congressional approval of a federal constitutional amendment which would abolish the poll tax in the five states which still have it.

The governor predicted that the proposed amendment will be ratified by the legislatures of the required number of states. If 38 states approve, the amendment will be binding on all 50.

Faubus said the legislature would have to work out details of an alternate voting registration system.

The U.S. House completed congressional action on the poll tax amendment Monday with a 294-86 approving vote.

Jobless Insurance Extension Fails in Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee turned down today President Kennedy's proposed to renew extended unemployment insurance.

The margin was only one vote. It is possible for the committee to reconsider its action next month. However, administration leaders were visibly stricken by the action turning down a recommendation for which Kennedy made a personal plea. It was one of the measures he counted on to help the economy, when he decided against the more drastic move of a quick tax cut.

The bill would have restored the provisions for aid to the federal-state unemployment system to give the long-term unemployed as much as 13 weeks' extra benefits.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg attacked the executive session at which the vote was taken.

"Speaking for the President and the administration, we deeply regret the action," he told newsmen afterward.

Goldberg estimated the program would have benefited 350,000 unemployed persons—250,000 immediately and 100,000 in coming months. The beneficiaries, he said, would be widely spread over the country—none in every state represented by a member of this committee.

A number of business groups and some spokesmen for state unemployment insurance programs had criticized the measure. At Three-General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, 75,000 workers in the farm equipment industry—Caterpillar and International Harvester—or, and 65,000 in the aerospace industry. The remaining 30,000 workers are employed by metal working firms.

In addition about 15,000 employees of trucking firms will receive 3-cent increases on the basis of annual or semi-annual reviews of the cost of living. These workers are mostly in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Seattle, Wash.

Higher average prices for pork, fresh milk and eggs were the major causes of a 0.3 per cent rise in food prices in July. On the other hand, prices of fresh fruit, vegetables and poultry were lower.

As compared with July 1957, the average prices of food for the household buys at the store for home consumption were about the same. However, the cost of restaurant meals has gone up nearly 3 per cent over the year.

"People are traveling more and eating out more," explained Arnold Chase, chief of the division of prices of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

He said there has been an increase in restaurant labor costs. The rise in pork prices was attributed to the smaller pig crop and unusually cool weather which led people to eat more meat.

Local Group at Insurance Celebration

American Foundation - Pioneer Western Life Insurance Company of Little Rock, founded only seven years ago, now has insurance in force exceeding $100,000,000, President Frank Whitbeck announced.

This places the company in fourth position among the 30 domestic companies operating in Arkansas and in the top 15 percent of all companies in the country.

The company was opened for business on Sept. 1, 1955 and now has a field force of more than 120 agents and a Little Rock home office staff of 45, he said.

Attending the firm's $100 million in force celebration last weekend in Little Rock were Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Bates and Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McPherson. Mr. Bates is the local agent.

5 Counties Can Get Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Monday he had been notified by the Department of Agriculture that five additional Arkansas counties will be eligible for federal crop insurance next year.

The counties and crop insurance will be offered in these counties: Mississippi, cotton and soybeans; Jackson, cotton, rice and soybeans; Lee, cotton, rice and soybeans; Johnson, peaches, and Howard, peaches.

In addition, Fulbright said, peach production areas in Franklin and Pope counties will be included in the Johnson County program while adjoining areas of Pike, Hempstead and Sevier counties will be grouped with the Howard County program.

Ten Arkansas counties were under the crop insurance program this year.

They are Arkansas, cotton, rice and soybeans; Craighead, cotton and soybeans; Crittenden, cotton and soybeans; Cross, peaches; Jefferson, cotton and soybeans; Lincoln, cotton and soybeans; Polk, cotton, rice and soybeans; and St. Francis, cotton, rice, soybeans and peaches.

A bill which would increase nationally the number of counties included under the crop insurance program from 100 to 150 already has passed the Senate and is pending before the House. Fulbright was its sponsor in the Senate.

Police Can't Identify Little Girl

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Police were back today at their starting point of a week ago in their efforts to identify Smiley, the lost little girl whose name they don't know.

What they regarded as their best lead among hundreds of tips from across the nation evaporated Monday night when a Minnesota woman's real daughter was located.

Lillian C. Oachs, 37, Hanksa, Minn., had identified Smiley as her daughter, Carri Caye, who had been missing a year and a half.

But while Mrs. Oachs and officials here awaited arrival of a birth certificate to confirm her identification, police in Duluth, Minn., disclosed the arrest there of Mrs. Oachs' former husband, Corgie Oachs, 42, on a kidnapping charge, and the recovery of Carri Caye.

Duluth police said the Oachs child was in a private home where the father had put her while he worked at a service station under an assumed name.

Smiley was found sitting on a downtown doorstep about 2 a.m. eight days ago.

Nicknamed Smiley by nurses at Children's Guardian Home, the blonde, blue-eyed waif is believed to be about 3 or 4 years old. She can't or won't tell her name, has spoken but rarely and officials say she is suffering traumatic shock, apparently from being lost.

ISLAND IN THE SUN—With the end of 307 years of British rule, Jamaica is the first new independent nation in the Western Hemisphere since Panama broke away from Colombia in 1903. Its past is mingled with the lore of buccannery of the Spanish Main; its future is one of increasing industrialization. Located 90 miles south of Cuba, Jamaica was discovered by Columbus in 1494 and was ruled by the Spanish until it was conquered by the English in 1655. Port Royal became headquarters for pirates and privateers who raided gold-laden Spanish ships. It became one of the major slave markets of the West Indies until the trade was abolished in 1833. Bananas and tourists became important factors in the island's economy in modern times. A quarter of a million tourists, mostly Americans, visit the island annually. Since 1950, many manufacturing plants have been built, aided by rich deposits of bauxite (aluminum ore). The island has an area of 4,411 square miles and population of over 1,600,000. Jamaica will maintain its ties with Britain as a dominion within the British Commonwealth.

Quake Hits Greece, Few Deaths

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A severe earthquake shook most of Greece for 20 seconds today, toppling homes in some areas. One death was reported.

The quake here was accompanied by strong tremors across southern Italy, where a quake last week took 20 lives. But no deaths were reported in Italy and officials said initial checks indicated the damage there was slight.

Nine persons were injured in Naples by falling as they rushed from their homes. Naples hospitals said five other persons suffered shock or heart attacks.

On the Amalfi coast of Italy where Jacqueline Kennedy is vacationing, the quake was barely felt. The American First Lady was sightseeing in the Amalfi Cathedral and did not notice the disturbance.

The Athens Seismological Service said the quake centered 65 miles southwest of Athens. That would put the epicenter at the town of Nauplion, in the eastern Peloponnese.

Reports reaching Athens from ancient Corinth said a 90-year-old man was killed in the collapse of his home.

From Patrai, Greece's third largest port, came word that a number of homes were destroyed. No damage to the Acropolis or the Parthenon, the ancient ruins on the hillside overlooking Athens, was apparent.

The quake struck the Peloponnese peninsula at 1:02 p.m. It was also recorded on the island of Crete and in southern Greece. Police said they were unable to get word on the extent of destruction and casualties because all communications south of Corinth were disrupted.

Across the Adriatic, the trembling of the earth was felt in a belt from Bari, in the heel of the Italian Boot, to Naples, on the west coast.

Thousands fled into the streets in panic.

At Bari, damage apparently was limited to a few cracks in buildings and falling of two cornice stones.

The shocks also were felt in Reggio Calabria, at the toe of the Boot, and across the Strait of Messina at Messina, Sicily, an area where a quake in 1908 killed 100,000.

BARI, Italy (AP)—Strong new earthquakes shook southern Italy today in the same area where earlier tremors last week took 20 lives.

Thousands fled into the streets in panic in towns all along the earthquake belt, which stretched from Bari, in the heel of the Italian Boot, across to Naples on the west coast.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

A first quake, described as violent, occurred at Bari at noon. Ninety seconds later the ground trembled across Italy in Naples. Then a second quake was felt in Bari.

A 20-second tremor hit Athens, Greece, across the Adriatic Sea. The shocks also were felt in Reggio Calabria, at the toe of the boot, and across the Strait of Messina at Messina, Sicily, an area where a quake in 1908 killed 100,000.

In Amalfi, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was on a sightseeing visit when the quake occurred. It was felt in this resort town as only a slight tremor that many persons—including Mrs. Kennedy—did not notice.

State Has a Stake in House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debate was to begin in the House today on a $60 million emergency work works bill that includes construction projects in 29 Arkansas counties.

The bill is sought by President Kennedy to strengthen the lagging national economy. Kennedy recently listed the measure as one of the "must" bills before Congress.

The Arkansas counties, in which over a 1,000 communities would be eligible for immediate projects, are Ashley, Baxter, Chicot, Cleburne, Conway, Crittenden, Desha, Drew, Franklin, Fulton, Independence, Izard, Johnson, Lee, Lincoln, Little River, Madison, Marion, Montgomery, Newton, Perry, Phillips, Scott, Searcy, Sharp, Stone, Van Buren, Woodruff and Ouachita.

The measure provides for a wide range of construction, including hospitals, local streets, public buildings, sidewalks and water and sewer works.

School buildings, however, are not provided.

The Arkansas counties qualify under redevelopment and unemployment conditions.

The bill has been criticized by some Republicans as a "political slush fund" for the Kennedy administration. The vote is expected to be on a partisan basis.

The Senate already has passed a similar bill providing for $750 million in immediate projects.

If the House passes the $600 million measure, a compromise will have to be reached with the Senate.

Rainmaker Working at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Rainmaker Homer Berry, his eyes on the sky faced a noon deadline today for bringing much needed rain to Craighead County and collect $1,200.

A contract with Woodruff County farmers, which would have paid $600, passed Monday with no rain reported in the area.

Today, Berry was depending on his rainmaking apparatus to speed up a frontal system moving into the state from the Utah-Wyoming area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock said Monday the cold front should move into the state by the weekend, but no rain was forecast for the area today.

Berry left North Little Rock late Monday afternoon and planned to travel northward on U.S. Highway 67, operating the coke-burning machine at intervals.

"It's a slow process," the retired Air Force major from North Little Rock said. "We can't average but about 25 miles an hour."

Crittenden County interests deposited $1,200 in a Jonesboro bank to pay Berry if he provides half an inch of rain over three-fourths of the county and a quarter inch over the remainder.

Berry said Monday he has contracted with farmers in the Joiner area of south Mississippi County to provide rain by Friday for $600.

The victims were identified by police as Mrs. Ruth Helm Quinn, 61, of Little Rock, and Harvey D. Jackson, 44, also of Little Rock.

Officers said Mrs. Quinn was killed when her car collided with a pickup driven by Henry A. Rhodes, 51, of Redfield.

Rhodes and two passengers in the truck were treated and released at a Little Rock hospital.

Officers said Jackson was thrown from his pickup truck after it had collided with a car driven by Glenn Walden 22, of Little Rock. Walden was not injured.

Whitewash Was Unexpected

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — The town of Tharptown got an unexpected whitewash Monday due to a highway employee who meant only to paint a new divider line along Route 122.

A hose connected to an automatic line painter sprang a leak as the unidentified worker drove through the center of town.

Quick drying white paint gushed from a 200-gallon pressurized tank onto the road, sidewalks, fences, lawns, flowers, hedges, cars and trucks.

Police said the worker traveled at least two miles—almost the entire length of Tharptown—before honking automobile horns alerted him something was wrong.

Offers to Swap Baby for House

DERBY, England (AP) — A mother of six offered today to give up her month-old baby daughter in exchange for a house.

The Rooks were evicted from their home for not paying the rent. Mrs. Rook and the children were given temporary accommodation in a hospital. Her unemployed husband, Jim, 35, was taken into a Salvation Army hostel.

No Trouble in Florida Integration

By J. WALTER JOHNSON

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Negroes returned quietly to desegregated classes in nine Escambia County schools today. One Negro boy again failed to appear at the previously white school to which he had been assigned.

School Supt. W. B. Woodham Jr. said Alver J. Nichols, 10, did not report for classes again at the N. B. Cook Elementary School. The boy went back to his old school.

Alver backed out at the last minute, telling his parents, "I don't think I can make it." His parents indicated they would seek to have him transferred back to the Negro school he attended last year.

Again there were no incidents as the other 21 Negro pupils re-entered classes.

The Negro pupils said there was no trouble and things went well in the classrooms.

Sheila R. Harris, 16-year-old Negro senior who entered Pensacola High School, said that on the whole everything was very nice.

"The majority of the kids were very nice to me," she said. "Nobody had any bad things to say to me."

"Of course I was apprehensive at first, but they helped me a lot. I lost my way to class twice and some students showed me how to get there. There were no complications."

Virtually no spectators were on hand either for the opening or closing of the schools attended by 42,000 pupils.

Whitewash Was Unexpected

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — The town of Tharptown got an unexpected whitewash Monday due to a highway employee who meant only to paint a new divider line along Route 122.

A hose connected to an automatic line painter sprang a leak as the unidentified worker drove through the center of town.

Quick drying white paint gushed from a 200-gallon pressurized tank onto the road, sidewalks, fences, lawns, flowers, hedges, cars and trucks.

Police said the worker traveled at least two miles—almost the entire length of Tharptown—before honking automobile horns alerted him something was wrong.

Offers to Swap Baby for House

DERBY, England (AP) — A mother of six offered today to give up her month-old baby daughter in exchange for a house.

Jean Rook, 33, said she would make the sacrifice to put a roof over the heads of her five other children.

Quake Hits Greece, Few Deaths

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A severe earthquake shook most of Greece for 20 seconds today, toppling homes in some areas. One death was reported.

The quake here was accompanied by strong tremors across southern Italy, where a quake last week took 20 lives. But no deaths were reported in Italy and officials said initial checks indicated the damage there was slight.

Nine persons were injured in Naples by falling as they rushed from their homes. Naples hospitals said five other persons suffered shock or heart attacks.

On the Amalfi coast of Italy where Jacqueline Kennedy is vacationing, the quake was barely felt. The American First Lady was sightseeing in the Amalfi Cathedral and did not notice the disturbance.

The Athens Seismological Service said the quake centered 65 miles southwest of Athens. That would put the epicenter at the town of Nauplion, in the eastern Peloponnese.

Reports reaching Athens from ancient Corinth said a 90-year-old man was killed in the collapse of his home.

From Patrai, Greece's third largest port, came word that a number of homes were destroyed. No damage to the Acropolis or the Parthenon, the ancient ruins on the hillside overlooking Athens, was apparent.

The quake struck the Peloponnese peninsula at 1:02 p.m. It was also recorded on the island of Crete and in southern Greece. Police said they were unable to get word on the extent of destruction and casualties because all communications south of Corinth were disrupted.

Across the Adriatic, the trembling of the earth was felt in a belt from Bari, in the heel of the Italian Boot, to Naples, on the west coast.

Thousands fled into the streets in panic.

At Bari, damage apparently was limited to a few cracks in buildings and falling of two cornice stones.

The shocks also were felt in Reggio Calabria, at the toe of the Boot, and across the Strait of Messina at Messina, Sicily, an area where a quake in 1908 killed 100,000.

BARI, Italy (AP)—Strong new earthquakes shook southern Italy today in the same area where earlier tremors last week took 20 lives.

Thousands fled into the streets in panic in towns all along the earthquake belt, which stretched from Bari, in the heel of the Italian Boot, across to Naples on the west coast.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

A first quake, described as violent, occurred at Bari at noon. Ninety seconds later the ground trembled across Italy in Naples. Then a second quake was felt in Bari.

A 20-second tremor hit Athens, Greece, across the Adriatic Sea. The shocks also were felt in Reggio Calabria, at the toe of the boot, and across the Strait of Messina at Messina, Sicily, an area where a quake in 1908 killed 100,000.

In Amalfi, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was on a sightseeing visit when the quake occurred. It was felt in this resort town as only a slight tremor that many persons—including Mrs. Kennedy—did not notice.

Man's Inhumanity to Man

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKIE

Dear Helen: Ever since we moved into this house 13 years ago we've had neighbor-trouble. We've given of our fruit and vegetables, sent over an occasional loaf of fresh-baked bread or cake and left little gifts at Christmas. Though civil to our faces, these people claw and scratch behind our backs. Maybe they resent the fact that our mother works and is too busy to get really acquainted.

Anyway, the trouble is mounting and I thought it best to seek your advice. It is in regard to our lot. Mother is a Nature Lover and so are the neighbors, but in a different way. They like formal French garden, while we prefer Nature in its original beauty. We never lay hands on their property but they are forever meddling with ours. Last week we found two trees uprooted and some lovely little wildflowers we'd brought from the woods, literally poisoned!

Last night after we were in bed and asleep, the neighbors sawed off the large limb of the big tree in front of our house. We fear the whole tree will die. As babies, we played under its spreading branches. It is a friend. While we have no actual proof that they hacked it, they once remarked to Mother that it should be pruned. What can we do? —Harrassed.

Dear Harnessed: Insecure people are jealous of self-sufficiency in others. Your neighbors resentful of your mother's ability to go her own way, retaliate as any ignorant, primitive people might, by hacking at that which gives her pleasure—the garden. To feed is to descend to their level. Instead, organize a beautify-the-block group and ask the local landscape gardener of your town to head the advisory council. Let him extend an invitation to the difficult next-door neighbors, treating it as an honor to belong. In return for his help you could

Was Shown the Way

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — An inmate baptised Sunday at a nearby prison farm testified to onlookers that "The Lord has shown me the way."

Monday Walter McWilliams, 31, was reported missing from the prison, where he was serving a 16-year term for burglary and grand larceny.

Showers meteors are roughly uniform in size. None has been known to reach the ground, yet almost all are large enough to leave trails.

Mrs. John Hanson Barr

Caroline Cecile Bergfeld became Mrs. John Hanson Barr Saturday night at 6 o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church in Tyler. Rev. John R. Beatty officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Louis Bergfeld of Tyler, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Roger Hanson Barr of Hope, Arkansas, and the late Mr. Barr.

The church was illuminated by candle. Candles surrounded by smilax, turned at the base of the windows. Arched candelabra holding white tapers entwined with Southern smilax were placed at the baptismal font. Gold altar vases held arrangements of white Fujii chrysanthemums, white stock, and pompon chrysanthemums. Spiral candelabra with caligular tapers were encircled with greenhouse smilax caught with gardenias. Woodard fern served as a background for the candelabra. Garlands of gardenias decorated the chancel rail, which was entwined with Southern smilax.

Nuptial music was given by Mrs. LaFayette Wofford, organist, and Mr. Paul Gribb, who sang "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" and a benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk mist pea designed by Bianchi with an empire line and bell-shaped skirt, appliqued with beaded Alencon lace motifs. A fitted jacket of ivory re-embroidered Alencon lace, fashioned with a scoop neckline and tiny sleeves, covered the sleeveless bodice and extended into a graceful train. A veil of heirloom duchess lace over a tulle cap of tulle lace. She carried a shepher bouquet of gardenias and lily of the valley, with a golden throat white orchid at the center and wore short white kid gloves.

Miss Elizabeth Bonneau Bergfeld was her sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. Richard Kirtley Hall was her cousin's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Betty Byars, Betty Hildebrand, and Ellan Thompson of Tyler; Miss Toni Culvert of Oklahoma City; Miss Ava Nell English San Antonio and Miss Dorothy Key of Dallas.

The bride's attendants were identically attired in gowns of Nile green velvet with short bell-shaped skirts. The moulded bodice of lace was fashioned with a scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves complemented by short white kid gloves. The waistline was marked by a narrow moss green velvet ribbon, terminating in back in a small, shaped bow and streamers. They wore Nile green veils with moss green velvet bows and carried cascade bouquets of white roses and blue agapanthus lilies with ivy foliage.

Gordon H. Bayless was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Messrs. Julius Bergfeld Jr., Robert Bergfeld, Robert Bridewell, Boren Hildebrand and R. B. Shelton of Tyler. Bill Bridges and Ensign William Perkins of Hope and Pat Whitaker of Baton Rouge La. Ushers were Tom Murphree of Troy, Ala., Beadle Moore and Earl White Jr. of Tyler.

Acolytes were William Finn, Stan Powell and Mike Sheehy. After the ceremony a garden reception was held at the Bergfeld home. Guests entered down a walk of double lighted hurricane lamps into a fairyland of lighted candles. Hurricane lamps lit the shrubbery and the flower beds were lined with white calladium plants. Hanging from the trees were tiered votive lights with hundreds of tiny votive candles and hanging baskets of white chrysanthemums and variegated ivy.

Water cascaded down from a tall fountain encircled with flowers in the back of the garden. Light green wrought iron tables, centered with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and hurricane lamps, were used throughout the garden.

Appointment of Marshall Hits Delays

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, the Negro lawyer who led the step-by-step fight of Negroes against segregation in America, got a lot of practice in waiting. He needed it.

Almost a year ago President Kennedy, deciding to appoint him to the federal Court of Appeals, sent his nomination to the Senate for approval. There has been no approval yet.

But the Senate whipped through in a few days with its blessing for Byron O. (Whizzer) White when Kennedy last March appointed the former All-America football star to the higher position of Supreme Court justice.

Neither the delay with Marshall nor the speed with White lay with the full Senate.

The responsibility in both cases rested with the Senate Judiciary Committee headed by James O. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, and with another Southern Democrat, Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, head of a subcommittee.

The 54-year-old Marshall, as chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, started in 1933 to argue before the Supreme Court in case after case, against segregation of Negroes.

He won all but three. His crowning achievement was in the Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954, outlawing segregation in public schools.

Last Sept. 23 Kennedy nominated him to the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals which handles cases from Vermont, Connecticut and New York and sent his name to the Senate. Congress quit before any action was taken. So on Oct. 23, 1961 Kennedy gave him a recess appointment.

When Congress returned this year, Kennedy sent his name to the Senate again, this time on Jan. 15.

As usual the nomination was referred to Eastland's committee where the procedure is to hold public hearings on the man's merits. After the hearings the committee votes for or against.

If the votes are against, that almost always ends it. If the committee approves, then the name goes to the full Senate for approval or the opposite.

But Eastland turned Marshall's case over to Johnston for his subcommittee to hold hearings.

The procedure here, after the subcommittee hearings, is for the full committee to vote. But Johnston stalled and held six hearings since January.

This is quite a contrast with the treatment White got. Kennedy nominated him March 30. White at the time was deputy attorney general. Before that he had been a practicing attorney.

In 1960 White, whose home is Colorado, had organized a Kennedy-for-President group and in 1961, during the presidential campaign, headed the National Volunteers for Kennedy.

White's nomination didn't go to a subcommittee. Although the full committee probably knew far less about White than it did about Marshall, a brief hearing was held April 11 and White got unanimous committee approval. That same day the full Senate approved.

Following a honeymoon to Acapulco and Mexico City the couple will be at home in Austin.

Rescue Try Fails, Train Kills Woman

HUMPHREY, Ark. (AP)—Fear of a Negro who might have saved her life apparently froze an 84-year-old white woman in the path of a speeding train Monday.

"I guess she thought I was after her," said 24-year-old Clotis McCuieu after Mrs. Neeley Harrison of Humphrey died beneath the wheels of a 104-car Cotton Belt freight train.

Witnesses said Mrs. Harrison was attempting to cross the tracks near her home and apparently failed to see the signal lights or tee members who are not on Johnston's subcommittee — like Democrats Philip A. Hart of Michigan and John A. Carroll of Colorado and Republican Kenneth B. Keating of New York — have been publicly putting the heat on Johnston to get through with the Marshall case.

Johnston decided Friday he had had enough hearings. But he hadn't decided when he'd call his subcommittee together to consider Marshall's worthiness before reporting to the full judiciary committee.

Since Congress is in a rush to quit and go home, there's a chance the full Senate won't be able to vote on Marshall this year, unless there's quick action by Johnston and Eastland. Marshall's salary will be cut off if he's not confirmed before the Senate adjourns.

Johnston said Friday he had released said McCuieu suffered abrasions and contusions to his shoulder, thigh and foot.

R. A. Thompson was engineer of the freight, which was northbound from Pine Bluff to St. Louis.

hear the freight that was bearing down on her.

McCuieu, who was working on a construction project nearby, attempted to block her out of the way but only managed to spin her around after striking her with his left arm and shoulder. The engine carried McCuieu's foot as his lunge carried him across the tracks. He was hurled about 25 feet.

Bill Grace, about 28, of Tallulah, La., a white foreman on the project, also had attempted to reach the woman but McCuieu got to her first.

McCuieu is about 5 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs about 135 pounds. The woman he attempted to rescue weighed more than 200 pounds.

"She looked up just before I got to her," McCuieu said later. "She kind of drew back and threw her arm up in front of her face."

Attendees at the Pine Bluff hospital where he was treated and released said McCuieu suffered abrasions and contusions to his shoulder, thigh and foot.

E. Berliners Go to Funeral of Youth

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—More than 300 East Berliners joined today at the funeral of Peter Fechter, the 18-year-old refugee whose killing by East German police touched off last week's rioting.

Those attending the ceremony, in the cemetery of East Berlin's Evangelical Church of the Resurrection, included young Fechter's parents and a sister and brother, who live in East Berlin. There was also a niece, Jutta Mueller, 7, who played about the gravesites. Her mother, Lieselotte Mueller, 27, lives in West Berlin and has not been able to see her since the Communists began to build the wall a year ago.

Standing in front of a large crucifix, a black-suited speaker made a funeral oration—with no reference to religion.

He explained the boy's death this way: "A lot of you have been in the mountains on vacation. Sometimes you came across paths marked no entry. Just as the authorities have to protect you against taking such dangerous paths, so they have a duty to keep the unripe and immature from taking dangerous ways."

An attendant said the speaker was one of a group of laymen officially authorized to address non-religious funerals.

Six elderly pallbearers in tall silk hats, apparently professionals, carried the wood coffin to the grave.

Authorities made no attempt to interfere with Western reporters and photographers at the ceremony, but police detained and questioned at least five Western correspondents and photographers who crossed the wall to cover the funeral. This reporter was kept in a room at East Berlin police headquarters with Eddie Worth, Associated Press photographer, and Robert Lackenbach, photographer for Life magazine. We were ordered not to talk to one another.

The East German police confiscated photographers' film, saying the pictures could be "used in the West to stir up trouble, as in the past."

VP Johnson Talks With Turk Leaders

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson talked with Turkish leaders today about continuing American economic and military aid to this strategic North Atlantic Treaty Organization ally.

Sources said the vice president told them the United States foresees the need for direct economic aid for at least the next two years but is looking forward to the day when the help will be in the form of development projects rather than direct aid.

Premier Ismet Inonu and President Cemal Gokul gave Johnson an account of Turkey's own plans for economic recovery through a five-year program expected to be announced shortly.

Johnson arrived Sunday for a four day stay in Turkey.

Benny kept a nest-egg in a pair of old shoes.

BENNY'S CACHE

By PAULINE ROTHRAUFF

Benny slipped a $5 bill in one of the old shoes he kept in a dark corner of the closet, and placed it back beside its mate. He had been saving in this manner for several years and the toes of the shoes were firmly stuffed. When many fives accumulated, he stealthily extracted them, changed them for twenties or fifties and replaced them.

The shoes were old, unwearable, and Martha never bothered them.

After replacing the shoe, Benny dressed. He could smell the breakfast, he thought grimly. A man of 55 needed more than food. He needed companionship, affection and someone to bolster his ego now and then. All Martha did was criticize, find fault with him and the world in general.

"But pretty soon," Benny sighed wistfully, "I'll leave all this. I'll take off for California. There's $500 in those shoes and that will tide me over until I get settled and get a job. Then just let her try to find me."

All that day while he worked, he dwelt on the joyful future that life held for him.

Martha, busy in the kitchen, grunted as he entered the door, but Benny went directly to the bedroom and his cache. He groped about in the dark closet, but his hand fumbled in empty space. He felt the floor. Felt the other side of the closet. Then went into the bedroom to get a flashlight that he always kept beside his bed.

A beam of light searching out all the corners of the closet told the same story. The shoes were gone!

From incredulity, Benny turned to panic.

"Martha! Hey Martha!" he screamed using into the kitchen. "Where are my old shoes? The old shoes I kept in the closet?"

Martha, in the midst of dishing up some potatoes, replied calmly, "I gave them to some people who were gathering old clothing today."

"Gave them — gave them away," gasped Benny.

"Sue. You never wore them. Why keep them?"

"But—but I wanted them," he cried in a voice fraught with emotion. "Who got them? Who was collecting for what?"

"Oh, for land sake, I don't know," Martha plunked the potatoes on the table. "Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, or maybe the Boy Scouts. I don't know. Just somebody collecting old clothing. Eat your dinner."

The next morning, instead of going to work, he made the rounds of one agency after another. Oh, if he could just find those shoes before whoever got them, discovered the money.

At last, late in the afternoon, he found them in the window at a rummage sale. He paid for them, giving the girl a $5 bill and telling her to keep the change.

Outside the shop he could hardly wait to run his hands in the toes of the shoes. But the toes were empty! Someone had discovered the money! And what

2nd Week of Practice Off to Slow Start

By VINCE FOSTER

Coach John Pierce termed yesterday's practices as just "an average Monday" and noted that the Bears seemed to turn out pretty quick. However, Pierce attributed their slowness to the previous two-day layoff.

Over the weekend the sports-writers printed their preseason predictions and ratings. In these ratings the Bears fared as high or higher than they have in a number of years. The Bears were rated 10th in the state behind, in order, Central, Fort Smith, Pine Bluff, Jonesboro, El Dorado, Hall, Conway, Benton and Hot Springs.

In AA ball the Bears were picked as fourth behind Jonesboro, Conway and Benton, none of which are AAA teams. Consequently the Bears are chosen to be the team to beat in District 4AA. Also Fairview and Camden are rated high, 9th and 10th respectively in AA.

Coach Pierce's comment to this high rating was that these sports-writers hadn't seen the Bears practicing. Coach Pierce added, "I've said all along that these boys have the potential, but they are going to have to change their attitude."

On the Junior Varsity squad, Coach Ballard commended Junior Hargis, sophomore guard as showing much improvement and hustle. The B team opens with Arkadelphia here Sept. 13.

Season Grid Book Sales Going Good

First reports indicate that the 1962 Hope High School football season book sales are off to a good start. The goal for this year is 500 books.

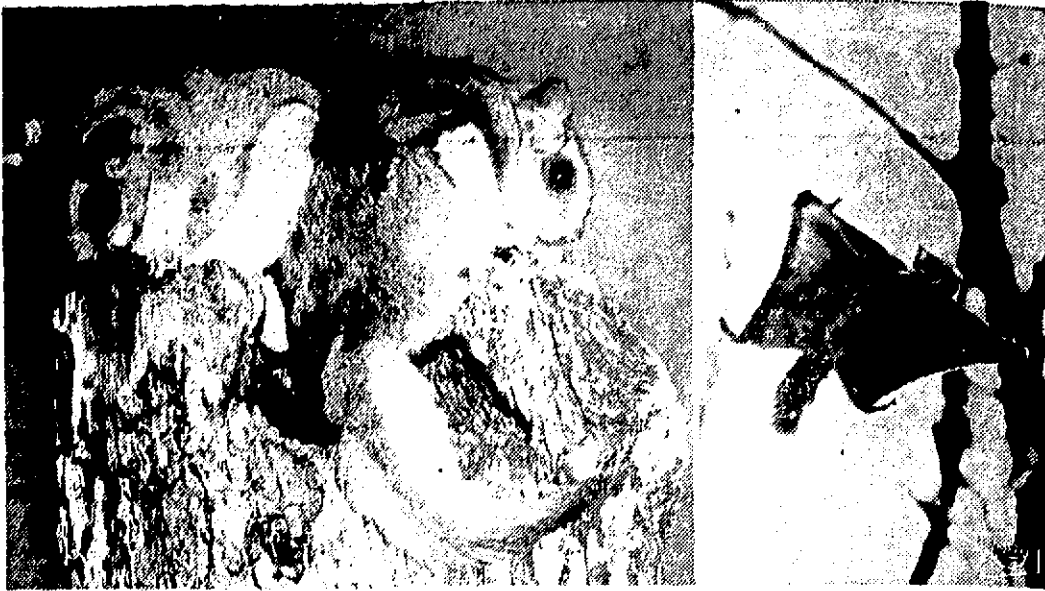

There will be six home games this year and tickets at the gate will cost $1.50 each. A book of six tickets costs only $6.00, a savings of $3.00 per book.

The season tickets are not numbered and one or more may be used for any game.

It will take the co-operation of all the season book sellers and Bears fans to accomplish the goal of 500 books and every local citizen is urged to back the Bears since these young men are Hope's finest assets, plus the fact that a good football team provides the best possible advertisement for our town.

Anyone interested in selling season books should contact Mitch LaGrone at Citizens Bank. Anyone selling 15 books will receive a free book and anyone selling 25 or more books will receive two free books.

NIGHT PILOTS—Flying squirrels are fairly common in the U.S. Even though many persons spend vacations in the woods without ever seeing these interesting animals take to the air, that doesn't mean they weren't near. The little squirrels are nocturnal and soar at 15 to 20 miles per hour from tree to tree seeking food. At left, flying squirrels are seen resting on a stump. Black line on side is special gliding membrane which turns them into a square glider, capable of a variety of aerial acrobatics. At right, seldom seen—much less photographed—is the flying squirrel in full daytime flight. Here the gliding membrane is fully extended. These unique squirrels are presently under study by scientists at the University of Michigan, who took the unusual photographs.

Dodgers-Reds Start Crucial Series Tonight

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Walt Alston, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers and as such a knowledgeable observer of the National League scene, views it this way:

"I can't see any club running away with the pennant. Frankly, I don't think it will be decided until the last week of the season."

Could be. But there might be an interesting development or two to follow between now and the late September stretch. For example, that three-game series opening tonight at Los Angeles between the front-running Dodgers and Cincinnati's resurgent Reds.

Tonight's opener is the first shot in a 10-day scrimmage involving the league's big three—Los Angeles, runner-up San Francisco and third-place Cincinnati.

After the set at Dodger Stadium, the Reds travel north for three games against the Giants and afterwards that is a four-game scramble between the Giants and Dodgers at Los Angeles. The only remaining action among the top three is a two-game Reds-Giants series at Cincinnati Sept. 12-13.

There were no National League clubs playing Monday but there were three night games in the American League.

The Reds, surprise winners of the pennant last season and just as surprising this year with their recent three-week upward zoom, saw that climb stalled—at least temporarily—by Sunday's twin loss to Houston. But by winning 18 of their last 23 starts, they've gained plenty of ground—from 10 games back of the Dodgers to 4 behind.

In between are the Giants, 2½ back of Los Angeles. They are back in friendly Candlestick Park Buffalo at Syracuse, postponed after a road trip that was nearly disastrous, but which turned out even at 6-6 with four straight victories at the end.

The Giants start a three-game series against Milwaukee tonight, sending Juan Marichal (16-9) against the Braves' Bob Shaw (15-8).

A wealth of pitching talent will be on display in the three-night Dodgers-Reds show, including the major leagues' three 20-game winners. Cincinnati will start Bob Purkey (20-4), Joey Jay (20-10) and Jim O'Toole (13-13) while the Dodgers will counter with Johnny Podres (10-10), Don Drysdale (22-6) and Stan Williams (12-8).

Terry's Hurling Ends Yankees Losing Streak

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Terry, who five years ago climbed out of a ditch to resume his pitching career, reigns today as king of the hill in the American League.

Terry, 26, a right-hander, reached the top Monday night with a sparkling performance limiting Cleveland to three singles in a 5-0 victory that ended the first-place New York Yankees' longest losing streak in four years at six games.

It left Terry, the AL's most winning pitcher, only one triumph shy of the 20-victory circle, and propelled him another step upward in the long, hard climb that began on a bleak November night in 1958 when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car.

Terry's car shot into a ditch and rolled over four times. Terry recalls, "They took me to Kansas City (he had been traded by the Yankees) where they found I had fractured my hip. I spent seven weeks in traction, lucky to be alive."

In 1959, Terry was traded back to the Yankees. A year later he compiled a 10-8 record, but threw the home run ball to Bill Mazeroski that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the World Series. Last year he was 16-3, although sidelined for a time and lost his one series start against Cincinnati.

This year he has been healthy all season and has stepped in as Ralph Houk's big winner. The victory against the Indians was his third shutout, and his 12th complete game, bringing his record to 19-10.

The triumph boosted the Yankees league lead to 3½ games over second-place Los Angeles and third-place Minnesota, both idle.

In the only other games scheduled, Lu Clinton and Carl Yastrzemski powered Boston to a 7-4 decision over Detroit and Washington blanked Baltimore 7-0 behind Tom Cheney's four-hitter. There were no games scheduled in the National League.

Terry hurled perfect ball until Bubba Phillips singled in opening the sixth inning. A single by Tito Francona in the seventh and Al Luplow's infield single with two out in the ninth were the only other Indian hits. Terry faced only 36 batters, striking out nine while walking none.

Rookie left-hander Sam McDowell (2-6) took the loss. He gave up two runs in the second inning, when Mickey Mantle doubled for the first of his four hits and Tom Tresh and Elston Howard walked.

Clinton hit his seventh homer in 13 days and added a double and single for three runs batted in while Yastrzemski was 3-for-3 with a double and two singles, scoring three times and knocking in two runs for the Red Sox.

Billy Bruton and Al Kaline lagged winner Gene Conley (13-11) for consecutive homers in the first inning and Kaline's single in the seventh accounted for the other two Tiger runs and brought on reliever Dick Radatz to finish up. The loser was Hank Aguirre (12-6).

Cheney (5-8) posted his third shutout with his third complete game, retiring the last 12 Orioles he faced. Russ Snyder and Whitey Herzog shared Baltimore's four hits. Harry Bright, who was 3-for-4 with two RBI, drove in the first Senator run with a first-inning triple off Billy Hoelt (4-7).

WHO'S ON THIRD?—Caught between third base and the plate at Comiskey Park in Chicago, Charley Maxwell, 7, of the White Sox appeared to be a dead duck, but the outfielder succeeded in getting back to third base. Mike Hershberger hit to Dick Hall of the Baltimore Orioles. The pitcher threw to catcher Hobie Landrith, who threw to third baseman Brooks Robinson. The play was close, but umpire Larry Napp ruled Maxwell safe in rundown.
